Tonight's match: The Rochester Rhinos host the Antigua Barracuda FC at Sahlen's Stadium tonight. It is the first ever meeting between the two clubs.

Antigua is 6-2-0 and tied for the American Conference lead with Richmond with 18 points. Leading the offensive charge for Antigua is Peter Byers who is third in the league with four goals and nine points. Stefan Smith is fourth with eight points.

Rochester is second in the National Division with six points, seven behind division leader Los Angeles.

New Look: Because of the restructuring of the USL Pro League this week Antigua has joined the American Division while the Los Angeles Blues join the National Division. As a result of the restructuring the Rhinos match against River Plate has been removed from the schedule and Rochester will now travel to FC New York on August 5.

Road Warriors: Antigua has been impressive on the road through the early part of this season, entering tonight's match with a 3-0 record, outscoring their opponents 16-5 (+9) away from home. The Rhinos have not allowed a goal in one match at home this season and are 11-3-3 at home the last two seasons.

League Honors: Rhinos midfielder Tony Donatelli was honored with a USL Pro Team of the Week selection this week. Donatelli scored the game-winner in last weekend's 1-0 win against Charleston.

Game News: Kickoff for the Rhinos match at FC New York on Monday, May 30 has been changed from 7:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. and at Orlando on July 16 has been changed from 7:35 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

USL Pro News: The Richmond Kickers (6-0-0) are the only unbeaten team remaining in USL Pro. The Kickers have a goal differential of +12 already this season outscoring their opponents 15-3.

Next Match: The Rhinos will host Orlando City on Friday at Sahlen's Stadium. Kickoff for the match is slated for 7:30 p.m.
